- 2. All two hundred sets were sold to members of the Soviet colony in Pyongyang, with the exception of a few sold to former Russian emigres. ***

25X1A

Comment. Exchange rates are not known for this date for either rubles or North Koreen won.

25X1A

Comment. The fixed price for the smaller sets, regardless of their original Soviet price, is apparently a feature of Soviet business transactions; similar sales are described in

25X1A

25X1A

Comment. These were presumably emigres who had received Soviet citizenship.
